

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF WEST VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON

SHAWN MICHAEL FOSTER,

Movant,

v.

Case No. 2:01-cr-00044-1
(Case No. 2:04-cv-00782)

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Respondent.

PROPOSED FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATION

Pending before the court is Movant's Motion to Vacate, Set Aside and Correct Sentence, filed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2255, on July 23, 2004 (docket sheet document # 62), supported by a memorandum (# 65).

Movant, Shawn Michael Foster (hereinafter referred to as "Defendant"), served a 51 month period of imprisonment, and is currently serving a three year term of supervised release, upon his guilty plea to possession of a firearm by a convicted felon, in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 922(g)(1) and 924(a)(2). (Judgment in a Criminal Case, # 18, entered July 12, 2001.) The District Court also imposed a special assessment of $100.00, and waived imposition of a fine. Id. Defendant's direct appeal was unsuccessful. United States v. Foster, No. 01-4568, 2002 WL 479853 (4th Cir. Mar. 29, 2002).

Defendant raises the following ground for relief in his Motion:

A. Ground one: Sentence enhancements were assessed and applied by the Court a preponderance of evidence not with the aid of a jury and beyond a reasonable doubt as required by the Sixth Amendment and the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment.

(Motion, at 4.) The Memorandum asserts that the Supreme Court's decision in Blakely v. Washington, 542 U.S. ____ (2004), should be applied retroactively to his case.

On January 12, 2005, the Supreme Court decided United States v. Booker, 125 S. Ct. 738, which reaffirmed the Court's holding in Apprendi, applied the holding in Blakely to the Sentencing Guidelines, and held: "Any fact (other than a prior conviction) which is necessary to support a sentence exceeding the maximum authorized by the facts established by a plea of guilty or a jury verdict must be admitted by the defendant or proved to a jury beyond a reasonable doubt." 125 S. Ct. at 756. The Booker holding applies "to all cases on direct review or not yet final, with no exception for cases in which the new rule constitutes a "clear break" with the past.'" 125 S. Ct. at 769 (quoting Griffith v. Kentucky, 479 U.S. 314, 328 (1987)). Defendant's case has concluded direct review and is final. Thus Booker does not apply, unless the Supreme Court rules that it is to be applied retroactively to cases on collateral review.

Six Circuit Courts of Appeals have ruled that Booker does not apply retroactively to cases on collateral review. In McReynolds

v. United States, 397 F.3d 479, 480-81 (7th Cir. 2005), the Court held:

Although the Supreme Court did not address the retroactivity question in Booker, its decision in Schriro v. Summerlin, ___ U.S. ___, 124 S. Ct. 2519, 159 L. Ed.2d 442 (2004), is all but conclusive on the point. Summerlin held that Ring v. Arizona, 536 U.S. 584, 122 S. Ct. 2428, 153 L. Ed.2d 556 (2002) -- which, like Booker, applied Apprendi's principles to a particular subject -- is not retroactive on collateral review.

Ring held, in reliance on Apprendi, that a defendant is entitled to a jury trial on all aggravating factors that may lead to the imposition of capital punishment. In Summerlin the Court concluded that Ring cannot be treated as a new substantive rule -- which is to say, a rule that "alters the range of conduct or the class of persons that the law punishes." ___ U.S. ___, 124 S. Ct. at 2523. It observed that "Ring altered the range of permissible methods for determining whether a defendant's conduct is punishable [in a particular way], requiring that a jury rather than a judge find the essential facts bearing on punishment. Rules that allocate decisionmaking authority in this fashion are prototypical procedural rules." Ibid. That is no less true of Booker -- or for that matter Apprendi itself. We held in Curtis v. United States, 294 F.3d 841, 843 (7th Cir. 2002), that Apprendi does not apply retroactively on collateral review, because it "is concerned with the identity of the decisionmaker, and the quantum of evidence required for a sentence, rather than with what primary conduct is unlawful." That, too, is equally true of Booker. No conduct that was forbidden before Booker is permitted today; no maximum available sentence has been reduced.

The remedial portion of Booker drives the point home. The Court held that the federal Sentencing Guidelines remain in force as written, although 18 U.S.C. § 3553(b)(1), which makes their application mandatory, no longer governs. District judges must continue to follow their approach as guidelines, with appellate review to determine whether that task has been carried out reasonably. No primary conduct has been made lawful, and none of the many factors that affect sentences under the Sentencing Guidelines has been declared invalid. Consequently, Booker, like Apprendi and Ring, must be treated as a procedural decision for purposes of retroactivity analysis.

* * * The Court held in DeStefano v. Woods, 392 U.S. 631, and reiterated in Summerlin, that the choice between judges and juries as factfinders does not make such a fundamental difference; to the contrary, the Court stated in Summerlin, it is not clear which is more accurate. ___ U.S. at ___, 124 S. Ct. at 2525. What is more, Booker does not in the end move any decision from judge to jury, or change the burden of persuasion. The remedial portion of Booker held that decisions about sentencing facts will continue to be made by judges, on the preponderance of the evidence, an approach that comports with the sixth amendment so long as the guideline system has some flexibility in application. As a practical matter, then, petitioners' sentences would be determined in the same way if they were sentenced today; the only change would be the degree of flexibility judges would enjoy in applying the guideline system. That is not a "watershed" change that fundamentally improves the accuracy of the criminal process. See also Curtis, 294 F.3d at 843-44.

We conclude, then, that Booker does not apply retroactively to criminal cases that became final before its release on January 12, 2005. That date, rather than June 24, 2004, on which Blakely v. Washington, ___ U.S. ___, 124 S. Ct. 2531, 159 L. Ed.2d 403 (2004), came down, is the appropriate dividing line.

In Green v. United States, 397 F.3d 101, 103 (2d Cir. 2005), the Second Circuit held that "neither Booker nor Blakely appl[ies] retroactively to [a] collateral challenge." In Varela v. United States, 400 F.3d 864, 868 (11th Cir. 2005), the Eleventh Circuit held "that Booker's constitutional rule falls squarely under the category of new rules of criminal procedure that do not apply retroactively to a § 2255 on collateral review." In Humphress v. United States, 398 F.3d 855, 863 (6th Cir. 2005), the Sixth Circuit ruled that:

We see no basis for concluding that the judicial factfinding addressed in Booker is either less accurate or creates a greater risk of punishing conduct the law does not reach than did the judicial factfinding addressed in Ring. The Supreme Court has never held that a new rule of criminal procedure falls within Teague's second exception. Beard [v. Banks], 124 S. Ct. [2504], 2513-14 [(2004)]. We hold that Booker's rule does not either.

In United States v. Price, 400 F.3d 844, 848 (10th Cir. 2005), the Tenth Circuit held that Blakely was a new rule of criminal procedure that was not subject to retroactive application on collateral review. In Lloyd v. United States, 407 F.3d 608, 615-16 (3d Cir. 2005), the Third Circuit held that "Booker announced a rule that is 'new' and 'procedural,' but not 'watershed;'" thus it does not apply retroactively to § 2255 motions filed in cases which were final as of January 12, 2005.

Based on McReynolds, Green, Varela, Humphress, Price, Rucker, and Lloyd, the undersigned proposes that the presiding District Judge FIND that Movant's conviction was final before Blakely and Booker were decided, and that neither Blakely nor Booker applies retroactively on collateral review.

For the foregoing reasons, it is respectfully RECOMMENDED that the District Court deny Movant's Motion filed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2255.

The parties are notified that this Proposed Findings and Recommendation is hereby FILED, and a copy will be submitted to the Honorable Joseph R. Goodwin. Pursuant to the provisions of Title 28, United States Code, Section 636(b)(1)(B), Rule 8(b) of the Rules Governing Proceedings in the United States District Courts Under Section 2255 of Title 28, United States Code, and Rule 45(e) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, the parties shall have three days (mailing/service) and then ten days (filing of objections), from the date of filing this Proposed Findings and Recommendation within which to file with the Clerk of this Court, specific written objections, identifying the portions of the Proposed Findings Recommendation to which objection is made, and the basis of such objection. Extension of this time period may be granted for good cause shown.

Failure to file written objections as set forth above shall constitute a waiver of de novo review by the District Court and a waiver of appellate review by the Circuit Court of Appeals. Snyder v. Ridenour, 889 F.2d 1363 (4th Cir. 1989); Thomas v. Arn, 474 U.S. 140 (1985); Wright v. Collins, 766 F.2d 841 (4th Cir. 1985); United States v. Schronce, 727 F.2d 91 (4th Cir. 1984). Copies of such objections shall be served on opposing parties, Judge Goodwin, and this Magistrate Judge.

The Clerk is directed to file this Proposed Findings and Recommendation and to mail a copy of the same to Movant, Shawn Michael Foster, and to counsel of record.
